Re: Foggy Conditions-Weather Conditions

The most unpredictable weather variable is fog. Fog conditions can change dramatically in a matter of minutes, and can vary greatly from one part of the district to another making this one of the most difficult weather-related decisions that must be made. Fog delays and communications are always made in the mornings and typically the decision is delayed as late as possible to monitor the conditions. It is always possible that fog conditions will diminish and/or progressively get worse after buses have already begun routes. Parents are encouraged to closely monitor fog conditions and consider the safety of their own children based upon their specific situation with boarding the school bus and safe travels.

Our policy will be to have Students, Parents, and Staff take their time when traveling to school in the morning. We do not have a Delayed start schedule however we want travelers to take their time in foggy, winter conditions when coming to school. You will arrive to school as soon as conditions permit. Please do not hurry or panic with regard to what time you will arrive. The administrators and staff at South Central Schools are very understanding of these traveling concerns and will be understanding in these situations. We will try to send a School Reach message reminding all to take their time and have safe travels.
